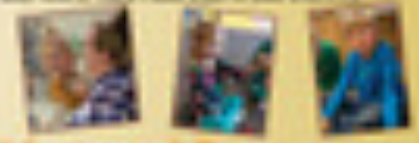
The Benefits of Kindermusik

From birth to age 7 is the most important time in your child's life for learning, brain development and bonding. At the KinderCenter, we know this and support all these areas of development in our classes—and more! Our music classes will nurture your child's music, social language, literacy, creativity, imagination, coordination and motor skills.

When it comes to young children, music is the best vehicle for learning. It is the key to unlocking your child's creativity, intelligence, and potential. Music actually primes the brain for learning!

You are your child's first and best teacher. At the KinderCenter, we give you the resources to sing, dance, and the magic of music and play into your home and your daily routine. Make music a part of your child's life!



Rhonda Wardell is an early childhood music specialist. She holds a Master of Education degree with an early childhood emphasis from Indiana State University, a Bachelor of Music Education degree from University of Louisville and has completed 30 hours towards a Master of Music degree at Indiana State University.

Rhonda received her Kindermusik® certification in 1998. From 1998 to 2001, she taught for and was coordinator of Kindermusik at ISU on the Indiana State University campus. She has studied creative dance with Anne Green Gilbert in Seattle, Washington and holds a Level 1 Orff Certification in music learning program for young children from East Texas State University. From 1992 through 1998, Rhonda maintained a private piano teaching studio and taught class piano at Indiana State University as adjunct faculty. Previously, she taught elementary music in Fort Worth, Texas.
